For one and all

Schloss Hohenkammer's hotel primarily provides participants of workshops and seminars with their deserved rest. But many other guests also visit the beautiful castle to spend a few peaceful nights in comfortable rooms at convenient prices, on grounds that include a spa, beer garden and the delights of the castle restaurant, Camers. A warm welcome to all.

Tranquility — a silent pleasure

One of the most important "comfort zones" for our guests is the hotel room that serves as their home away from home during their stay with us. The ability to retreat into one's own shell can be taken quite literally here.

Many of our modern, comfortable and functional guest rooms are designed according to the nautilus principle. Guests enter an inviting and expansive space and then move in a spiral toward the shower and bathroom area. Conversely, the space then opens up again towards the bed- and living room. One leaves the rooms in an "open" frame of mind.

Although modern in style, the hotel's interior architecture responds to the materials found in the facing castle: stone, wood and plaster. By the way, all the wood comes from the castle's private forests.

License to feel good

Those whose days are busy can find the relaxation they deserve in our small but fine spa, where guests often experience a feeling of "rejuvenation". Whether taking advantage of the fitness studio or sauna, a visit here will do them good.

Even the eyes relax. Instead of the usual spa kitsch, on the way down the spa stairs, visitors encounter a soothing calm from the space's materials and design. The archaic, roughcut granite blocks exude strength and comfort – just what you need to revitalise. Take advantage of the other amenities offered to our visitors.
